Bike trails going up this year

PLEASANTON — Responding to concerns about inaction on proposed bike trails, Director of Engineering Services Don Sooby said the city will build several new bike trails this year.

The city expects to obtain $16,000 of state money and will spend this year an estimated $24,000 of the $27,000 it has earmarked for bike trails, Sooby told the park and recreation commission Wednesday night.

Streets scheduled for bike trails include Santa Rita Road (near Amador High School), from Black Avenue to the Youth Sports Park, from Val Vista to the Youth Sports Park, and First Street from the existing county bike path to Pleasanton Middle School. Commissioner Ken Mercer suggested that Sooby look into the possibility of adding a trail along Vineyard Avenue from First Street to Pico Avenue.

On another item, a delegation from Longspur Avenue sought information about the future development of the Youth Sports Park which is across the street from them. They showed special concern about future lighting, possible fencing of a ditch, and complained about noise from kids on dirt motorbikes and flying model planes and about parking in front of their homes.

They were told that lighting won't come to the park for many years because of a shortage of funds. The park and recreation staff will meet with Zone 7 staff to see about getting the ditch fenced because it is a Zone 7 responsibility. The staff also will check into the possibility of fencing the east end of the park to keep out motorcycles and talk to recreation leagues to see if sports enthusiasts can avoid parking in front of neighborhood homes.

Edith and John Marshall were among the Valley's best known hosts and hostesses, lending their lovely home at Castlewood to hundreds of charitable events over the last 20 years. On Sunday afternoon, friends will gather from throughout the Valley and the Bay Area to pay their final respects to John Marshall, who passed away Wednesday at the age of 76.

Castlewood leader John Marshall dies

Memorial services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday for John Albert Marshall, who passed away late Wednesday following a series of illnesses. Judge Donald Quayle has been asked by the family to preside at the service which will be held at Callaghan Mortuary in Livermore.

Born July 29, 1900 in Berkeley, Mr. Marshall had a busy and colorful career that was concentrated in the Bay Area he loved, but that also touched many cities of the world in the course of his long life span.

An architect, builder, resort operator and a keen judge of talent, Mr. Marshall was best known in this Valley for the "Old Hearst Ranch" which he and his wife owned and operated through the World War II years. They sold that property to the Castlewood Corporation in 1952, at which time Mr. Marshall also retired as builder and entertainment entrepreneur without equal.

It was however only the beginning of a new career which was to bring Edith and John Marshall to the forefront of the Valley's and the East Bay's social life, lending their lovely home and their many talents to a succession of charitable events that raised hundreds of thousands of dollars for the causes they supported.

Children's Hospital of the East Bay was a particular beneficiary of the Marshall hospitality with an annual event that was among that institution's biggest fund raisers. Locally, there were few projects or community groups that did not at one time — and most of them many times — use the Marshall home and borrow from their talents. These included Pleasanton Junior Women's Club, the Y Wives, St. Augustine's Women's Club, the Amador - Livermore Valley Historical Society and the Livermore - Amador Symphony.

The Marshalls were particularly fond of their own Christmas and New Year's parties, and an invitation to tour their lovely home, decorated with thousands of pieces which they had made, was coveted by hundreds of Valley residents at each holiday season.

John Marshall began, in 1954, the design and development of his home, "Villa del Sole," and affixed a plaque proclaiming 1984 as the target date for that labor of love.

"He would often ask me if I thought he would live that long, and I would always say 'yes'," Edith Marshall told this reporter. But he would finally succumb to a series of heart seizures, passing away quietly, in his sleep, with his wife at his side.

"We had a wonderful life, and I have nothing now to be sad about," said the vivacious lady who had been his bride of 35 years.

A brother, Elliot Marshall and a sister, Mrs. Edith Edwards, also survive. Donations in Mr. Marshall's name may be directed to Children's Hospital Medical Center for the East Bay, in lieu of flowers.

Drought leaves zone comfortable—not sure

Something's got to give if Zone 7 of the Alameda County Flood Control and Water Conservation District is to meet customer water demands this summer and continue its groundwater recharging program at the same time.

That was the appraisal Zone 7 Chief Engineer Mun Mar presented to the zone board of directors last week.

Mar said that despite the drought conditions prevailing this winter he felt "comfortable" there would be enough water to satisfy customer needs if the demand remains stable, but said he "wasn't sure."

Zone 7 is the water wholesaler for the valley, providing water to the ares and the cities of Livermore Pleasanton, and Valley Community Services District.

Mar said the zone directors face a policy decision in the event of a water shortage.

He presented three alternatives:

- Cessation of the recharging program along the Arroyo Mocho.
- Negotiate an additional one year contract with the State for more water.
- Increase pumping the zone's wells to make up the water difference.

In an effort to recharge the groundwater basin, the zone has been releasing water down the Arroyo Mocho at a rate of 5 cubic feet per second, or 300 acre feet of water per month in January and February. The zone is scheduled to receive 17,200 acre feet of water from the California Department of Water Resources water project this year.

Mar reported the zone will fully utilize its commitments from the South Bay Aqueduct this year, leaving only 1670 acre feet available for the recharging program.

"If the communities take more water through the tap this summer for their lawns, gardens or general use, this would eat into the 1670 acre feet," Mar warned.

He said the board could decide to negotiate another one-year contract with the State for more water since the zone's agreement stipulates the zone may receive a maximum of 46,000 acre feet per year.

But since the State may be receiving similar requests from other California districts harder hit by the drought, Mar said the State will allocate extra water on a priority system based on need.

The last alternative is to increase pumping the zone's own wells. But last November zone directors went on record against mixing the hard well water with treated water from the Del Valle Treatment Plant.

The directors instructed the staff to stop pumping the wells and thereby increase the quality of water delivered it to zone customers.

Mar recommended the board temporarily discontinue its recharging program but director Joseph Concannon said he would be "very sad" to see the program stopped.

"We've been trying hard to improve the water tables with a program like this," said Conacannon, "and even thirty days off would make some changes."

The alternatives have been referred to the Zone Water Committee for consideration. Mar said the costs of each option have yet to be determined.

Herlihy, Mercer, Brandes lead Amador senior poll

PLEASANTON — William Herlihy, Ken Mercer and Frank Brandes lead the field in a tight race for city council, according to a straw poll taken by 200 Amador High School seniors this week.

The poll was not conducted in a scientific manner, but was an informal straw ballot, according to the civics teachers who assigned it to the students.

Each student took home two ballots, one for a parent, the other for a neighbor whom he or she knows, said teacher Don Anger, who conducted the poll in conjunction with fellow civics teacher Paul Zarcone.

In the past, students have had time to do a scientific sampling of the city, just like the big league pollsters and they have been accurate within two or three percentage points. Lack of time before the election forbade scientific sampling this year and the public should keep that in mind when reviewing the students' straw poll data, said Anger.

The pollsters brought back 272 ballots which were analyzed for each candidate according to three categories: likely voters, unlikely voters and undecided.

The results, in order from top to bottom were: Herlihy, 121 likelies, 13 unlikelies and 24 undecideds; Mercer, 111, 13, 16; Brandes, 96, 12, 24; Gene Finch, 74, 6, 20; Roger McLain, 73, 10, 14; Jim Jordan, 68, 7, 12; and Robert Attebery, 28, 15, and 10.

Herlihy was mentioned by a total of 170 of the people sampled, which amounts to a mention on 62.5 percent of the ballots. Mercer was mentioned on 51.47 percent of the ballots and Brandes on 48.5 percent.

Others in order of finish were: Finch, 36.7 percent; McLain 35.66 percent; Jordan, 31.9 percent and Attebery, 19.48 percent.

If the poll is an accurate reflection of community sentiment, there is a hot contest for the third of three council seats which are up for election. Brandes has 132 mentions, but 24 of them are from persons undecided about whether they will vote. On the other hand, his nearest rival, Finch, has 20 of his 100 votes among the undecideds.

McLain is only three votes behind Finch in the totals and would appear to have a similar chance. Jordan is not far behind the pair, trailing Finch and McLain by five and six votes, respectively, among the "likelies".

The students will begin conducting a scientific survey of the community next week, asking questions pertinent to the primary elections coming in June. — by Ron McNicoll

Critchfield won't run for judgeship in June

Attorney Burke Critchfield announced yesterday that he does not intend to run against Judge Al Lewis in the upcoming election in Department One of the Livermore - Pleasanton Judicial District

Critchfield originally took out "intention to file" papers when the Department Two seat was vacant, but since his law partner, Mark Eaton, was appointed to the that seat, Critchfield withdrew his intention to run. The county registrar of voters also had Critchfield listed as filing for the Department One seat, but his announcement yesterday confirms his intention to withdraw from that race.

Attorney Joseph Schwab has withdrawn papers of intention to file for the seat held by Lewis. He was not available yesterday for comment about Critchfield's announcement or his own intentions.

Critchfield said in a press release that he decided it was "in the best interests of his law firm and his clients to devote full attention to his prabtice."

Critchfield expressed gratitude to friends who had circulated petitions on his behalf. More than 70 people gathered nearly 1,000 names to submit to the registrar fo voters as part of the filing process for the judgeship, said Critchfield.

Cooper nips $200 item from Clark expenses

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — BART Board President Elmer Cooper, who along with his predecessor Richard Clark is under investigation by the Alameda County Grand Jury for possible misuse of their district expense accounts, rewrote Clark's January expense report denying approval of $200 in "clerical / Administrative services."

Reimbursement for extraneous expenses has been a bane to the BART board since Livermore director Robert Allen released last year's expense ledger and precipitated the grand jury investigation.

Clark submitted an expense report asking for $433.88 — less than half the $950 he averaged for the ten months ending last September — including $200 for "clerical / administrative services" of Johan Klehs, a part-time field representative of San Leandro assemblyman William Lockyer.

Although no letter of explanation accompanies the January request, bills submitted in November and January — and subsequently paid by BART — include letters of explanation from Klehs charging $50 each for "BART Clerical Organization, Transportation Research, Secretarial / Administrative Duties (and) Community Relations."

Following board policy, Clark, as president, approved his own November expense report. Cooper approved the similar December bill.

But when Clark submitted his January expenses, Cooper instructed director of finance William Goelz to retype the cover sheet and delete the $200 Kleh's' bill.

Both bills were signed by Goelz as "conform(ing) to the Rules of the Board of Directors."

"Lots of things will conform to the rules," Goelz be a trip to New York to inspect their transit system. But it's the president's perogative to decide if it was necessary to go.

"President Cooper did not want to sign it, and directed us to make the change," Goelz said, declining to speculate on Cooper's motive.

"I've no comment," said Cooper when asked why he ordered the change. "I don't comment on expense accounts."

Livermore director Robert Allen, a standing critic of directors expense accounts, said yesterday he "commend(s) president Cooper for this decisive action" in scratching the $200.

Clark was not at the board meeting and could not be reached for comment.

Bond issues clarified by State representative

Possibly the most definitive answers concerning the $1 million Murray School District bond issue set for Tuesday's ballot were given late last month at an informational meeting built around the talk of John McManus, state representative from the Office of Local Assistance.

McManus is an authority on the state school building program and has been with the state local assistance office 23 years. The Murray district has been on the state aid program for many years.

The state has been lending money since 1947 to assist growing school districts who can not totally afford to build schools of their own.

At the presentation, held at Frederiksen School in Dublin, McManus said school districts voted 5 per cent of 95 per cent of their assessed valuation. The district's first obligation was then to retire those bonds, which kept the tax rate at approximately 40 cents.

To illustrate, McManus said if the district owned bonds requiring 36 cents (per $100 assessed valuation), the taxpayers of the Murray district paid 40 cents on the taxes and four cents back to the state to help repay the state loan. If at the end of 30 years the state had not been paid back, the loan was written off because these were general obligation bonds of the state and the Governor's budget included the annual retirement of the bonds.

Will the tax rate go higher than 40 cents if the bond issue for $1 million is passed March 2?

MC MANUS: It is difficult to say the bond tax rate will not be above 40 cents, but it will approximate 40 cents, varying a little depending on the interest rate at which the bonds can be sold. The district might be paying 43 cents for bonds, becatse of the interest rate, in which case the state would not be paid anything The program was designed so everybody moving in at a future date would help pay for schools. If the district paid cash, future residents would not have paid their share.

What are the district's chances of getting the rest of the money needed from the state when the bond election passes?

MC MANUS: A determination will be made as to the exact size of the district is eligible to build on the basis of a projected enrollment of how many children the district will have in two years. When the state finds the number of children a district will have, the number of K-6 students is multiplied by 55 square feet and the number of 7-8 grade students is multiplied by 75 square feet. The sum of these two figures is compared with the existing building area in the district, and the square footage entitlement is determined.

Has consideration been given for solar energy heating and cooling (for the Dolan site school)?

MC MANUS: The Board of Local Allocations has agreed to give a bonus of $50,000 to help build this school with solar energy systems. The equipment will come from a federal grant, which has been applied for.

Will we know if the district qualifies for the second building by March 2? We might still be waiting five years from now.

MC MANUS: Two enrollment periods, October and March, are used. The March one gives the district an extra year. I have not seen the projected enrollment, but I am sure the district will qualify before five years elapse. The district may count houses not yet moved into or houses under construction. The projection is based on .5 or 1.5 children per lot.

If the school is not approved for another two years, the cost of everything will go up and the bonded indebtedness will go down. Will another bond issue have to be passed?

MC MANUS: One million dollars is being voted on March 2, basically to finish the intermediate school, but the district cannot sell more than $600,000 to be within their capacity at this time.

How much average daily attendance (ADA) is the district short?

MC MANUS: The district is short approximately 333 kids, which would involve about 400 additional homes. (Dr. Donald Williams, superintendent, interjected that the district has picked up 92 houses).

If the bond issue does not pass, will the district still be eligible for the state program?

MC MANUS: The district may not file for applications until the district passes the bond issue. If a district has been out of the program for three years, it is beginning to pay the State money. Once a district is on the state program, it would want to stay on the program or say it did not matter what it cost to build a school.

We were told that the money was there for the school five years ago and now they can build only half a school.

MC MANUS: In 1972 the district filed an application to build an intermediate school and buy a site. 1972 to 1976 is a long time to wait, but there were a lot of circumstances beyond the administration's control that delayed the construction. This is the first month (January) construction costs have not risen since 1972.

Williams out with heart attack

Williams, a resident of Pleasanton, is at the Kaiser - Permanente Medical Center in Walnut Creek.

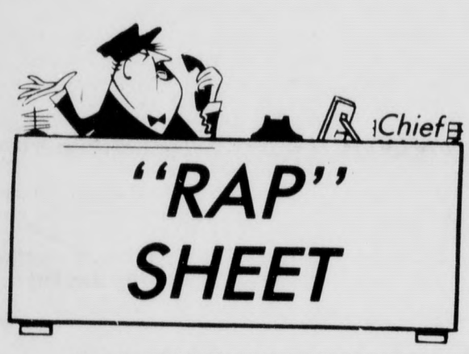
According to Williams' wife, he presently is in the coronary unit of the medical center and only family members are permitted to visit.

An attending physician has indicated he may be released by Monday or Wednesday of next week.

About a year ago he suffered chest pains but was not hospitalized.

Williams reportedly became ill Monday and, as a precautionary measure, was taken by ambulance to the Kaiser hospital in Walnut Creek.

The district affairs are being handled by Heinz Gewing, assistant superintendent, and Phillip Chubb, business manager, in his absence.



Burglars hit string of medical offices

LIVERMORE — Burglars escaped with at least $327 in cash and checks after breaking into three medical office buildings on Fenton Street early Wednesday.

Dentist Gerald Hawkins' office at 54 Fenton St. reported a burglary in which thieves stole more than $300 in cash and checks. Then, the Tri-Valley Medical Group office at 48 Fenton St. listed $27 in similar losses. Finally, the Franklin Optical Company offices at 22 Fenton St. reported a break-in but no determination of loss was immediately detailed.

Police said heavy-duty pliers were used to force open door knobs at each office. Similar serrated scratches were found on each door knob, indicating the same group of burglars were responsible for the three break-ins.

No drugs were reported taken from any of the offices, police added. Fingerprints were discovered at the Tri-Valley Medical Group office and are being processed for identification.

Gold watch, cameo ring missing from home

The Longines watch was inscribed, and the woman's ring was gold. Police had no further information on the burglary.

Valuables worth $1,600 taken from Pleasanton home

PLEASANTON — Burglars took $1,590 in stereo equipment and other valuables from John Gorden Blair's Oak Circle home Wednesday.

Police could find no signs of forced entry and theorized that burglars might have pulled open the garage door just enough to slip under. Missing were a Gibson J-45 model guitar, complete stereo system including a reel-to-reel tape deck, and a gold band dated 1904.

Police have no suspects in the burglary, or in a similar theft from Blair's home one week ago.

Dawn Rutter answers Times Murray queries

Dawn Rutter is one of six candidates vying for the Murray School District board position open in the election Tuesday.

Due to space requirements, Mrs. Rutter's responses to questions posed to each of the candidates were inadvertently left out of Thursday's edition of The Times.

Following are the questions and Mrs. Rutter's responses:

1) What, if any, weak points exist in the programs and instructional materials available to Murray students? What steps would you suggest to correct any deficiencies?

Less play equipment and more work equipment in the classroom is what is needed. Libraries with film strips for children to play with is ridiculous when we need to stress reading as a basic skill that the children need to develop.

Following are questions 2-6 presented all Murray candidates and the responses turned in by Mrs. Rutter, which were inadvertently left out of the Thursday edition.

2) How can communications be improved between teachers, classified, administration, board and citizens?

3) Why, in your opinion, must the bonds be approved?

4) Explain what the district's role should be as regards the VCSD and use of school facilities for recreation?

5) Is the district doing a competent job of handling all money matters, including leftover bond monies and awareness of the county general fund?

6) What do you believe are your strong points that best suit you to sit on the Murray board and work with district staff?

Following are Mrs. Rutter's responses;

2) Communications is only possible when two or more persons attempt to reach each other. Everyone concerned must work together to improve communications.

3) I'm not sure the bonds must be improved. The district was responsible for building but they have not yet built what was approved at the last bond election.

With annual loss of students in all schools in the district, and other districts closing schools for lack of attendance — do we really need more schools?

Learning skills at the junior high level do not have to include shop and home economics (which are high school classes). Macrame classes can be taken care of in summer school, not regular learning time during regular school term. Ability to exist depends on being able to read a recipe & alter it as needed — not tying knots. Our sophistication will be our own weapon of defeat.

4) School facilities should be utilized to the fullest degree because empty idle buildings are a waste. VCSD and the school district can work out viable solutions together.

5) Not being on the board now I am not sure the district is handling all money matters to the fullest advantage but there are some waste areas.

6) If I am elected I would be more conscious of real needs and fewer frills. Our California students do not compare in other schools and are put back when they move to other states. Fundamental basics must be followed through. We can change laws as needed in Sacramento.

A special tax for protection

Almost everyone will agree that fire and police protection are two of the most essential services offered by any city.

The personal safety and that of our property is in the hands of the small group of men who perform the myriad duties involved in police and fire protection.

Livermore, with an expanding population set currently at 44,349, has a total of 44 officers in uniform or 9 per 1,000. The average police manpower in cities throughout the United States is 1.6 per thousand, in Alameda county 1.3.

There are 46 uniformed firemen in Livermore or .93 per thousand population as compared with a statewide average of 1.14 per thousand. Pleasanton is even worse off with .76 police officers per thousand.

What this means is that for the police, in order to maintain essential services, non-essential calls will be ignored, youth programs such as Horizons will be abandoned and crime prevention programs such as STEP which has cut the burglary rate in Livermore while it grows in the rest of the country, will be dropped.

For the fire department it means that in all but Station A engine companies will consist of two or three men rather than the four regarded as essential.

We believe that for the Livermore Police and Fire Departments to operate af full efficiency Proposition A, the measure calling for a 25-cent tax override marked specifically for police and fire protection, must be passed. For that reason the Times urges a "yes" vote on proposition A.

We feel obliged to warn the taxpayers this is probably only the first of many override measures which will be settled at the polls. SB 90 and its restraints have placed tax increases squarely in the hands of the people. The choice is yours and it will often be difficult.

Proposition B we believe is a personal matter to be settled by the people who own recreational vehicles and those who do not like them parked in driveways. We would not presume to enter that dispute.

Murray board

The successful candidate for the Murray School District board should be one who has resided in the district for several years at least, have some knowledge of the complexities of present day school budgets and be independent enough to form their own opinions and not allow one's self to be swept along with the tide on every issue.

Linda Jeffery scores at or near the top on all three.

A resident of the area for 13 years, Mrs. Jeffery has had experience with handling a multi-million dollar budget and has been in the world of business long enough to know the pitfalls of the present economy. She has also very strongly evidenced a capacity for independent thinking ... as witness her stand on the bond issue.

We are certain that though she represents the minority opinion (amongst the candidates and current school board members), she can still work effectively with the present board members.

Suffice to say, no candidate should be judged on one aspect of their background or their platform.

Each of those vying for the position vacated by Joanne Bascom has several plusses that could merit support from the electorate.

If we were endorsing a candidate solely on their experience in the field of education, we would be hard-pressed to ignore Dr. Harry Overline, an associate professor of child psychology at Cal State Hayward.

On the level of experience with a school board, Art Laursen would be the sole candidate. Laursen served on the Murray board from 1969 to 1975.

If one bases his vote on involvement of the candidate in community and school affairs, then Dawn Rutter, Harrietta Dahlin and Eugene Hinton would be at the top.

However, we believe the successful candidate must possess ALL the qualities listed at the outset.

As evidenced in her statement appearing in The Times yesterday and noted at one of the candidates nights, Mrs. Jeffery knows how to do her "homework," knows who to contact and how to proceed on a given subject.

The Times is confident that Linda Jeffery is the candidate who can best handle the job during the next 12 months.

And a 'Yes' vote

The Murray School District is placing its fiscal integrity on the line by going to the voters for authorization to sell $1 million in bonds.

The bonds are needed at this time so that the district may complete the long-sought intermediate school now planned for the Dolan site in Silvergate.

All current estimates of growth indicate building activity is starting to perk-up at a very measured pace. The school is needed not only to house the expected growing number of intermediate grade students but to give them the full spectrum of not only basic but industrial arts courses.

Letters to the Times

Police budget

Editor, The Times:

Our city must learn to budget without increasing our taxes. The editorial of Tri-Valley Herald of 2/24/76, referring to the police and fire departments, stated, "These two departments have asked for additional personnel each year at budget time, but the city manager and council refused to grant the requests."

Why hasn't our city given top priority to our policemen and firemen? They are the two most vital departments in our city! Why have they been treated so unfairly? Doesn't this proposed 25 cents tax on $100 property valuation denote poor city management? Isn't this 25 cents safety tax an unfair tactic to cover up the mistakes made at the budget sessions?

Instead of this proposed 25 cents safety tax, why not take care of our city's safety needs at the next 76-77 budge session which will be coming up very soon. At this year's budget session, the city should take care of our policemen and firemen first!

Do not allow the city to put you in a position of low priority. Demand that your departments be given highest priority at the budget session now coming up. What we need in Livermore is increased awareness of safety priorities and money budgeted for all their needs at budget time, the proper time for allocating the city's funds.

Sensationalism

Editor, The Times:

In response to the front page article of Tues., Feb. 24 in which a member of the BART board accused a fellow director of "sensationalism." According to your reporting he also went on to accuse this gentleman of "Hitlers Third Reich tactics." What can be more sensational?

Perhaps my historical perspective is poor but how can a disagreement among two BART Directors be related in any way to Hitlerian tactics?

And these are community leaders? Wow!!

Santos Road

Editor, The Times:

The several articles published in local newspapers in recent months in regard to Santos Ranch Road appear to assume that everyone in the Valley is in favor of abandoning, closing or locking off the road to the public because it is dangerous to vehicular traffic. However, in view of the extensive use of the road over the years there would seem to be a real question of whether it is really such a "danger hill."

The road is used regularly by the property owners, by police or sheriff's patrol vehicles, by maintenance vehicles, by hang glider groups, and over the years has been travelled extensively by the general public. In the relatively few instances of vehicle brake failures, the question should be asked whether the brakes were initially in good condition. The road is only a mile long so there would seem to be less continued brake pressure than on many mountain roads in the state which are far longer. The Sonora Pass, for example, is perhaps ten times as long and parts of it are as steep or nearly as steep as Santos Ranch Road, but there seems to be no pressure to close the Pass.

The Santos Ranch Road does provide a unique and spectacular panoramic view of the entire Valley and it seems regrettable that the public should be locked out of a road which has considerable recreational value. Certainly the danger arguments do not provide a reason to close the road to recreational hikers and joggers, or track teams, or training prize fighters, etc.

As an alternative to closing the road to vehicles perhaps a few more rubber barriers such as the one at the entrance to the road could be installed, or even run-offs such as are provided on some mountain highways.

Turner answered

An open letter to City Councilman Dale Turner:

In reference to your comments re. regarding the lack of attendance at the general plan public hearings. Has it ever occured to you and the other members of the Council that you no longer have the public's confidence in your decision making ability? Has it ever occurred to you, Mr. Turner, that the real reason the large landowners in the Los Positas Valley have not offered their comments on the general plan is because they do not recognize the City of Livermore?

In 1973, again in 1974 and still again this month, the Local Agency Formation Commission set the boundaries of Livermore's sphere of influence to exclude the Los Positas Valley. How long, Mr. Turner, will it take the City of Livermore to get the message? Why do you insist on planning for an area that your city has never had any legal claim?

No, Mr. Turner, just because we have not attended your public hearings, you have no right to assume that we accept your general plan.

Maybe some day in the future there will be a city government in Livermore that is reponsive to it's citizens, but until that day comes kindly confine your eforts to your own boundaries and stay out of Los Positas.

Campaign rhetoric

Editor, The Times:

Having been closely associated with Pleasanton's city government a few years ago I would like to make some observations relative to the current City Council election.

It seems that each election year "Campaign Rhetoric" is taken out of mothballs and put back into circulation. Candidates readily accuse each other of engaging in the practice while never recognizing that they themselves may be guilty of the same.

We frequently hear candidates making specific statements of what they will accomplish if elected and unfortunately many of these statements are made without regard to the political realities of the situation.

One or even two councilmen are unable to affect the direction of the city on any matter. Our form of government provides for five councilmen to give all issues the consideration of varying viewpoints. When three or more of the five agree then action is taken that is the council's opinion is reasonable, acceptable and in the best interests of the majority of the citizens of Pleasanton.

Any statements of what a candidate will accomplish if elected is meaningless without the ability to gather the necessary three votes on the council to pass the measure and accomplish the end in view.

I urge you to consider the candidates carefully. Ask yourself, "Are they saying what you want to hear only to get elected? Are they showing support for specific groups in order to get their votes? If elected, do they have the ability to work with the other councilmen to deliver what they are promising? Are they to work with the other councilmen to deliver what they are promising? Are they rehashing issues that are stalled because of court or governmental interference?"

Remember it takes three council votes to pass a proposal. If the candidate is unable to work with and influence the others he will not be able to deliver his campaign promises.

round the town

If you went to work first thing January 2 (allowing for that morning-after holiday) and kept it up, five days a week, for the next three and one-half months, all of the money you earned from that labor would just pay for all the taxes you incured in 1976.

To be more specific — which I am certain you will appreciate — "the typical American family, with $14,000 annual income, will work right up to April 15, just to pay that year's taxes." And even the president's budget director admits that "the April 15 date is a startling coincidence."

Startling, yes. Surprising, no. Personally, I thought it was closer to a 50-50 split. Work half the year for me and mine, the other six months for Uncle Sam, City Hall, Governor Jerr. It's the taxing generation, folks.

James Lynn had a lot of fascinating tax items to offer us, as we assembled in journalistic splendor at Coronado. He is one budget director who seems to thrive on the job, believe it or not.

"If human resources programs expand over the next ten years at the rate they were expanded over the last ten years, then defense spending would be down to zero dollars." That's what Mr. Lynn said.

The fact that noboby in the audience groaned, suggests that Americans are no longer enamored with our military. Of course, nobody applauded either. Most of us were still in shock, thinking about the six weeks we had already worked for Uncle Tax, and the eight weeks still to go.

Things were just a little bit brighter in our session with Senator Alan Cranston. Alan can always be counted on for a good show, and he didn't disappoint the assembled editors and publishers at Coronado.

"The CIA mess is everyone's fault, but mostly the fault of Congress," Alan told us. It is always refreshing to hear a Congressman bend the blame back onto his comrades. I wonder if he talks that way when he's speaking in the Senate coffee house.

The cloud returned when some guy called "Bill" reported on the current state of things with the U.S. Postal Service.

"Mail volume has dropped off so badly that the Postal Service is now looking to ways of bolstering business in order to justify its existence," Bill advised us. And what's the Postal's best bet for more volume?

"They are thinking seriously of going directly into the Third Class Mail market. Advertising pieces will be shipped direct from the printer to the post office, counted by Zip Code area but unaddressed." That way we will all be sure to get that mail order pitch, no matter who or where.

And we will get one every day, sometimes two a day, as the presses hit full pitch, and the postal carriers get larger sacks, or trucks, to fulfill their newly appointed rounds. Distributors of junk mail.

United Parcel has the package business tied up. Other private carriers are grabbing off the business mail. That leaves the Postal Service to carry mail order offers, tooth paste samples, and the letter from Aunt Minnie in Tucson, which comes via Tacoma. Happy days.

I don't want to leave you with the impression that the west coast's editors and publishers assemble in Coronado just to hear discouraging news. Heck no.

There was, for one thing, that encouraging report from Governor Jerr. Which he didn't make. Which, by default, is always good news. And since President Ford didn't show either, we had that much less to worry about. (There had been some rumble about Richard Nixon sneaking over from nearby San Clemente for a quick chat. He didn't make it either. Something about being too busy packing for Peking.)

One person who did show is a journalist from Palo Alto by name of Harry Press. No, I'm not kidding. And neither was Harry, when he approached me casually for "a friendly little game of tennis."

"I'm about a 'B' player," Harry offered. "Me too," I responded.

Turned out we were both lying. Harry's more like a B-plus. I started out with a B-minus, wound up with feeling like a weak C.

"Great game," Harry energetically offered at the conclusion of that long hour. "I feel like I've had a good workout."

I felt like I'd been worked over by Billie Jean King. Everything hurt, even some parts I never knew I had before.

But no time to rest. Back to work. Seven weeks to go, before I'm even with Uncle Tax. After that it's all for me. If I should live so long.

Sound and Fury

Walt Hecox

A pair of youngsters from Pleasanton spent the weekend in the Alameda County Juvenile Detention home last weekend and, in my mind, deserved their time in stoney lonesome.

What they did not deserve was what happened to them while they were there.

From what I have been told, Santa Rita is not the only detention facility in Alameda County which needs some improvement.

So does the youth of these United States. Not all of them. Most of today's youngsters are no better and no worse than the generations which came before them.

The drop from today's average kid to the next level is apparently considerable.

One of the two Pleasanton youngsters who waited over the weekend for his appearance in juvenile court was beaten not once but a couple of times, according to what I was told.

He came home to his bewildered parents with the marks of attempted strangulation on his neck and a variety of bumps and bruises.

Moreover he was so terrorized by his older antagonist he was afraid to seek help from the people in charge of the detention facility.

That beating, or those beatings, and their implications are bad enough in my mind.

The general behavior of the youngsters who shared a cell with the two Pleasanton youths is downright terrifying.

Throughout the weekend the pair were hassled and heckled for their crime. It was, as I have said before, pretty bad behavior by my standards.

Compared with the exploits of those who shared their cell it was virtually nothing.

Matter of fact they could have walked around the cell with halos on heads, sprouted angels wings and flown home to Pleasanton.

The heckling of the Pleasanton boys came not because their misdemeanor was at best a stupid and at worst a cruel offense.

They were the butt of jibes and teasing because their foray into the world of delinquency by way of an infraction considered too petty by their cellmates to warrant anything except scorn.

"So you shot a couple of birds," was one scornful comment. "Big deal. Guess what, fish? I shot my mother." The heckling, which was anything but good natured, was constant and shocking.

The youngsters in detention were proud of their crimes and had complete contempt for a pair of middle class youngsters who had fallen afoul of the law through a foolish, cruel and thoughtless prank.

They spoke of their explorations into the realm of petty theft. Bragged about stealing automobiles and ramming them into private property with considerable damage to vehicle and target.

There were kids who bragged about drug busts, others who had explored the world of pushing. I hope there were no sex offenders but I am not sure and would not be surprised.

The Pleasanton kids survived their brutal adventure and will probably grow into better adulthood because of it, having developed a greater respect for the law and their personal blessings.

What really disturbs me are the twisted minds of the youngsters who did the teasing, who beat up a cellmate just for the hell of it, who were proud of their delinquency and looked forward to a life of crime.

I worry too about the sick society which produced them and cannot help searching for the flaws.

Everyone errs now and then to a greater or lesser degree. To make mistakes is as inevitable as it is depressing.

Those who are proud of their mistakes are beyond my apprehension.

I grew up in a world where the kids who were sent to D.J. Sedgewick's office and "got the strap" were subjects of derision and disgrace.

Let a kid get slapped on the hand by the teacher with a ruler or the next highest order of corporal punishment, the butter paddle on the back of his lap, and he did a little pennance beyond the original discipline, having fallen a notch or so in the eyes of his contemporaries.

The world was one in which we were proud of accomplishment, ashamed of bad behavior or failure.

All that has changed now, I am told. People tell me about "social promotions" in grade school. August Boyer, that esteemed pedant from Danville who wrote a handbook on students rights, told kids they could do damn near anything and tangle their teachers in the red tape of law if disciplined.

Permissive parents pass off irresponsibility and bad behavior with a shrug.

The harvest can be found in that Juvenile Detention Hall where a pair of kids who got into the old "boys will be boys" type of mess were objects of scorn, not for their crime but because it was petty.

It is a harvest we could do without and one we might never reap again if the people of These United States returned to some solid old values.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Today's hand is the opposite of a freak. It is produced any time you deal out a new pack without giving it one shuffle. You can cut as often as you like, but this comes after no shuffle at all.

Before the American Contract Bridge League used computers to produce the duplicated hands used in major championships the late George Goff used to deal them all out personally. George was a man of great honesty, but he got old and the last year that he made them up he produced one unshuffled hand for the open pairs.

It was caught early and thrown out, but before this happened, one pair had achieved some real notoriety. North made one of those shaded third-hand bids, South responded with an unsound two notrump and North compounded the felony by going to game.

West opened the five of hearts. Dummy played low and the defense started with four heart tricks. Then West led the three of clubs. East won and led back a low club. South played low and the defense added four club tricks. They still had to get another so South was down five.

Ask the Jacobys

A Winnipeg reader wants to know what we bid as South after East opens one heart. No one is vulnerable. Our hand is:

♠ 2 ♥ K Q 10 9 4 ♦ A Q 7 3 ♣ K J 8.

We simply pass. Our best chance for a profit here is to let our opponents get into trouble.

Mike Zampa

One of the most delightful features ever to appear in The Times was a series of journal entries a year ago from the typewriter of Roy Kissin, at the time a distance running marvel from San Ramon High School.

Roy shared a week's worth of diary notes compiled while he was on tour with the United States team in the International Junior Cross Country championships.

Kissin damaged a lot of professional egoes with articles that were concise, easy to read and wildly entertaining. Of course he had an edge in acquired experiences. Most of us can't relate first-hand a jog through Kennedy Airport and the New York City Sanitation Dept. with Olympian Frank Shorter. Few of us have ever explored a Moroccan Casbah and it's for sure none of us ever placed eighth in a race of the world's best teenage distance men.

ROY KISSIN

Tall tales made his stories read well. But that doesn't overshadow the fact Kissin is a keenly intelligent young man, lucid to a point that would embarrass a lot of journalists.

With maturity that belied his youth Kissin sifted through scores of outrageous college offers last spring and spurned them all. He settled instead on Stanford, as much for educational opportunity as a chance to dip his time in the two-mile. It was impressive to listen to a youngster uncover the recruiting hucksters who promised everything but wings on his track shoes.

Kissin's first cross country season at Stanford was one of limited success. Neither he nor the Cardinal team accomplished anything worth jotting in the diary. Track season is fast approaching, however, and Kissin will preview it by making a second appearance at the world cross country championships. This time he is a member of the American senior team competing Saturday at Chepstow in Wales.

Even if the race is a fizzle, Kissin can find release by exploring the birthplace of Dylan Thomas.

It might prove a less taxing recreation.

Kissin qualified for the race through the back door. He and Stanford coach Marshall Clark both feel Roy belongs in the junior portion of the race. He is still of age, and actually is listed as an alternate for the younger squad.

But there was an opening in the senior division, which carried with it assurance Kissin will run in Chepstow. He wanted that assurance, and threw in his lot with the grownups.

Roy arrives in Wales via a twisted course that could use some unravelling.

Last month in Irvine he ran the qualifying race for America's junior cross country team. After holding third place for much of the race, Roy developed side aches and wound up seventh. Only six qualified for the junior team, however.

Kissin was dismayed because he qualified easily the year before.

He was informed by the AAU, though, that he could accompany the American contingent as an alternate, if he could pay his own way. Together with his father, Roy scared up the money and agreed to go.

In the meantime, qualifying was conducted at Belmont for the senior race. Six team members were selected for the Wales excursion, with expenses paid by the AAU. Two more openings were left for runners willing to pay the freight.

Only one man was willing, Rich Kimball of San Jose State, the Contra Costa County sensation who once competed against Kissin in high school.

With still another team berth open, it was decided that Kissin could shift to the senior division, where he'd be sure to run. As a junior, remember, he was only an alternate choice.

Prospects for Roy are not good if he remains in the big race. It will be run over eight miles, twice the distance the juniors cover. Kissin is not accustomed to such length, says his coach, Clark. Nor is

Mats host NCS tourney

Individual excellence is the goal of most high school wrestlers and that is what most EBAL matmen will be going after when Granada High School hosts the North Coast Section Championships tomorrow.

The trials begin at 9:30 a.m. and the finals start at 7:30 p.m. The top three finishers in each weight division qualify for the state meet at Pomona next weekend.

Granada coach Steve Page thinks Region II champion American and Region IV winner Eureka will be the favorites for the team championships.

Eureka has five individual champions and eight qualifiers entered. American brings four Region II champs and eight qualifiers to the tournament.

Page's Matadors figure to have the best chance of the EBAL schools to finish high in the team scoring.

"We have five individuals entered in the tournament," the Mat coach pointed out. "Of those five Ron Freeman (194) and Steve Jaeger (168) have the best chances of being in the finals."

The Matadors finished third in the Region II tournament last Saturday with 100½ points and Page felt his wrestlers did an outstanding job.

"That (the Region II tourney) was probably our best effort of the season," he admitted "The kids really did a great job against some real tough competition. We have already won three invitationals this year."

Freeman has a 35-2 record this season, with two wins coming over Kevin Turner of Mission San Jose. Turner has a 40-5 record this year, so Freeman must be considered a good choice for top honors in the North Coast meet.

However, the 168-pound weight division will probably draw the most attention from EBAL fans. Jaeger and Dublin's Kevin Dugan are in different brackets but stand an excellent chance of meeting in the finals. Dugan has an outstanding 35-0-1 record this season and has defeated Jaeger twice, including a 4-0 overtime decision in the Region II tournament.

Rocky Harrison of Eureka could prevent Jaeger from making the finals, however. Harrison has a 37-2 record this year and has won six tournaments.

"Harrison could be really tough," Page admitted. "Jaeger will have to wrestle really well to beat him."

Besides Harrison other top wrestlers in the 168-pound division include Dane Lance of College Park, who has a 27-5 record, and Pat Wallace of Northgate, who finished second to Lance in the Region I tournament

Other top local entrants include Mark Voegeli of San Ramon and Kurt Billingsley of Monte Vista in the 157-pound division, Steve Potts of Amador in the 98-pound class and Naish Piazza of Livermore in the 130-pound division.

Voegeli defeated Billingsley in the Region 11 tournament. It was the second victory for Voegeli over Billingsley in three matches this season.

Potts took second to Mike Rodrigues of American in the Region 11 98-pound championship finals. Potts has a 33-3 record this season and has won two tournaments. However, Rodrigues is 34-1 for the year and have won five tournaments, including three MVP awards.

Piazza was a suprise second to Scott Towers of Mission San Jose in the region meet. He has a 34-7 record and has won two tournament titles this year. Scott Ramos of San Ramon could suprise in the 115-pound division.

Besides American and Eureka, other team champion contenders are Irvington, Pacifica and Marina.

Pacifica has three individual champions while Marina won the Region III crown easily.

Page feels Granada has a chance to finish high but is not a strong contender for the team championship.

"The Mission Valley Athletic League is probably the strongest in this tournament," he said. "The EBAL has a lot of good individuals but the MVAL figures to place higher in team scores. It's probably the toughest league in Northern California

Senior bowler hits 202

It took her awhile to get the hang of it, 69 years to be exact, but Senior bowler Mabel Cranmer finally cracked the 200 barrier in winter league action at Granada Bowl last week.

Mabel rolled a 202 career high game, her first ever past the magic 200 figure, and it shattered a 132 season's average.

Meanwhile, 69-year-old Howard Pabst, carrying a 137 average, registered his first 200 game of the season, a 219, and closed with a 524 series.

Rick Barry a diabetic?

OAKLAND (AP) — Rick Barry, iron man of the National Basketball Association's Golden State Warriors, said Thursday he is a "borderline diabetic," but doubts the illness explains his recent lack of on-court energy.

Barry, the Warriors' leading scorer, underwent blood tests this week to determine his blood sugar level in the wake of several less - than - impressive performances. Test results were not available.

When the NBA champions beat the Philadelphia 76ers 94-93 Sunday. Barry scored only four points, far below his 21.2 average.

In recent games, said the 31 - year - old Barry, "it just hasn't been there. My legs have been a little tired."

But he added: "If I had a high level of blood sugar diabetes I wouldn't have any energy at all. I couldn't run at all."

Are You Concerned About Pleasanton? Gene Finch Is!

Gene Finch, unlike the other candidates running for city council, works and resides in Pleasanton. He knows the problems of Pleasanton as a businessman and as a resident and knows the directions to take in order to solve these problems. He has taken the strongest stands on the major issues of the campaign. He has not side-stepped any and he won't be "second-guessed." He has been a strong advocate for the West Los Positas crossing, improved sewer treatment facilities, improved fire protection and planned growth for the city. He must be put in a position to help the community. The only way he can is with YOUR vote. The incumbents have had their chance, now give Gene his.

Shooters have excellent week

Charlie Litz

BILL CALDWELL and Roger Matuska, chairmen of the Running Deer Committee, report an exceptionally good shoot last weekend. Following are scores of the top shooters of the six clubs represented:

Marksman: Bay Sportsmen — Gordon Hickey score 32; Tri-City — Lonny Amaya 30.

Sharpshooter: Livermore — Mike Truitt 36; Livermore — Bob Keller 34.

Expert: Livermore — Don Baumann 46; Livermore — Larry Eppeneder 36.

Master: Sacramento — Hal Glaze 37; Livermore — Larry Mortensen 36.

Distinguished: Eagle Rock — Bill Ramsey 47; Eagle Rock — Hank Harkness 40.

Hank Harkness and John Rock got into a shoot-off for second place in the Distinguished Class Hank won out for his original score of 40.

Ten trophies were awarded, and the Livermore club came away with five of them. This was the second competition shoot of the season.

Standings of the six competing clubs show Eagle Rock in first place with a cumulative score of 341; Livermore in second place with 323; Sacramento is third with 269; Tri-City Follows closely with 268; Fremont with 232; and Bay Sportsmen earned a total their first time out, of 107. The other five clubs have had two shoots.

These scores could change drastically in the next two scheduled shoots, of course.

Lots of people appeared for the Off-Hand Rifle shoot also. Warren Judd said the ones to beat in this category are: Expert Class, Larry Eppeneder; Master Class, Ron Bulman; Sharpshooter Class, Carl Mossinger; and Marksman, Ed Burke.

Carl Ehre and his helpers were busy setting up the Iron Chickens. This was a popular activity with the rifle gang ; and a smaller size iron chicken was set up for pistol shooters. This latter group turned out 50 strong and will be a part of the program in the future.

NEW RULES AND regulations on sport fishing will take effect March 1. So before you do any fishing, be sure to get a copy of the new booklets. They should be available at license agents and DFG offices. Daily bag and possession limit five trout throughout the year in some lakes and reservoirs will be a change. Check the rules!

he at peak efficiency right now, evidenced by his disappointing finish in the Irvine race.

"But the fact is," Clark says; "Roy will be running in the Pac-8 against a lot of experienced runners, and I don't think it's bad for him to face top competition over there.

"We left it up to Roy, and he said he'd be willing to run on the senior team. It'll be tougher, but he's coming along well, as well as any freshman we've ever had, and maybe a little better.

"For personal success Roy would have preferred to get back in the junior race," Clark said. "We think he'd do well there. He's had some good workouts lately, including a 4:13 in the mile. "Our cross country team bombed out in the Pac-8 meet this year, and it was disappointing for Roy. The reason we pursued this international competition was as a personal success thing for him."

Kissin's Stanford teammate, Tony Sandoval, will join him for the Chepstow run, along with American AAU marathon king Gary Tuttle. Roy will be facing probably his toughest competition ever. But remember he is a highly intelligent young man who can comprehend overwhelming opposition and understand his relationship with the field. Which sounds like a dignified way of saying he'll accept the defeat logically.

The important point is expressed by Clark. "He feels fortunate just to be running over there."

Kissin returns Wednesday to prepare for a Stanford track meet a week from Saturday. Prospects for the season look good. Roy is already running 9:12 two-miles in workouts. That's far ahead of times he was posting a year ago.

Clark makes no bold predictions for Kissin this year or in the future.

Two or three years from now, however, when the Americans are assembled for another international cross country championship, they may feel more fortunate than anyone that Roy has the opportunity to run.

Major League problems continue

NEW YORK (AP) — The bell for round 22 of the heavyweight championship of baseball will ring today with the players and owners sparring for supremacy and Commissioner Bowie Kuhn in the wings to possibly declare himself champion.

The 22nd meeting of the owners' Player Relations Committee and the Major League Baseball Players Association is scheduled for today in the office of the players association. Progress in the first 21 sessions has been minimal at best.

Kuhn said Thursday it might become necessary for him to step into the impasse and order the training camps opened, but added: "That situation does not exist at the moment."

The commissioner said he is keeping in close touch with developments, that he is satisfied the clubs and players are making a sincere effort to reach an agreement and that he is convinced the two sides are meeting regularly.

The current owners' proposal is the "eight - and - one" plan, in which a player in his eighth full major league season can play out his option and become a free agent in his 10th. A spokesman for the owners' group said the owners were expected to offer modifications in the general proposal today.

John Gaherin, top bargainer for the owners, has labeled the current proposal "fair and equitable," but Marvin Miller, union head, calls it "a nothing proposal."

Miller points out that a player in his 10th full major league campaign would probably have some 13 or 14 years of professional baseball under his belt before he wins his freedom.

That would put the player in the category of aging veteran, whose most productive seasons would likely be behind him.

The players association has proposed some new ideas on the reserve rules — the system that previously bound a player to one team forever but, according to present legal interpretation, allows him to become a free agent one year after meeting his contractual commitments.

The owners have said those ideas contained more cons than pros.

But Miller says, regardless of the progress of negotiations, a cloud hangs over the proceedings — the commissioner.

"He's one of the major causes of the dispute," Miller said.

The commissoner has certain rights to act when the integrity of baseball is threatened by gambling problems, and the like, but Miller says Kuhn may attempt to cancel an agreement under those non-defined powers.

"He could deem he has the right to take some matter out of an agreement under the 'integrity of baseball' provision," Miller said.

Poke girls defeat MV

Despite three buckets by Carol Dolsby in the last minute the Monte Vista Mustangs fell to Livermore 42-41 last night in a season - ending EBAL girls' basketball game.

Despite the defeat the Mustangs won the EBAL crown with a sparkling 12-2 record and Livermore took second with a 10-4 mark.

Livermore held a 10 point margin through most of the third quarter before the Mustangs started to close the gap in the fourth period.

Dolsby hit a bucket with 40 seconds left in the contest to close the margin to 41-37. Nine seconds later she hit another basket. However, Peggy Baker hit a crucial free throw for Livermore with 17 seconds remaining to ice the victory. Dolsby hit a desperation shot at the buzzer for the final score.

Baker led the winners with 15 points on seven field goals and one free throw. Laura Fumagalli led Monte Vista with 14 points.

Lynette Western had 10 rebounds for Livermore and Ann Wondolowski added eight. Sue Collar had nine to pace the Mustangs.

Livermore won the junior varsity contest, 40-5 to finish the season undefeated.

Romania stars lead Americans

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Romania held a slight edge over the U.S. women Thursday night in the compulsories of an Olympic qualifying gymnastics meet for the American team.

Diane Dunbar of Pleasanton and Foothill High School was with the American team here.

The Romanian National Women's Team led the United States 143.30 - 142.15, with European champion Nadia Comaneci turning in Romania's highest scores in vaulting, uneven parallel bars and balance beam.

Miss Comaneci, who is expected to be a challenger for the gold medal in the Montreal Olympics this summer, scored 9.85 on the vaulting horse, 9.90 on the uneven bars and 9.75 on the balance beam.

Debbie Wilcox had a 9.70 in vaulting, 9.65 on the uneven bars and Kathy Howard turned in a 9.70 on the balance beam to lead the Americans.

The meet continues Friday night with optional routines.

Giant move to Toronto still a possibility

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Bob Short, a partner in the group attempting to buy the San Francisco Giants, confirmed Thursday that some problems have arisen and are blocking final settlement of the deal to keep the baseball team from moving to Toronto.

Short and his partners were given until 8 p.m., EST, Monday to fulfill conditions set forth by the National League club owners when they gave preliminary approval last Tuesday to the $8-million purchase.

The San Francisco Chronicle and Chicago Tribune reported that a requirement of National League baseball owners that Robert Lurie hold the majority ownership of the Giants may result in the franchise moving to Toronto after all.

Three major conditions the owners added to terms of the sale Tuesday in Chicago were said by the newspapers to be:

— That Lurie, San Francisco real estate magnate in partnership with Short, must have the controlling vote among the team's owners or 55 per cent of the stock. Lurie was listed as 50 per cent owner with 25 per cent apiece to Short, former owner of the Texas Rangers, and Minnesota Enterprises, Inc., a conglomorate led by Marquette National Bank President Carl Pohlad.

— That if the Giants don't average one million paying customers over each of the next three years, the team may leave San Francisco without facing court costs but must pay the city $2.5 million to get out of the lease on Candlestick Park and other obligations.

— That a tax of 50 cents a ticket, attached to help pay for alterations to the park requested by the San Francisco 49ers National Football League team, must be dropped.

It's Kessler.

New homes going up in Livermore

LIVERMORE — The first entirely new homes to be built in Livermore in three years are now under construction by The Great American Land and Development Compnany.

Named "The Country," the 104-home development will be located on Dalton Avenue at Vasco Road and will offer five single family homes in both one- and two-story models.

Prices will start at approximately $39,000, accrording to Great American's president William J. Schworer, Jr.

The homes are designed by nationally celebrated architect Paul Thoryk. Each model will be available in three different exterior treatments that make extensive use of redwood siding.

The interiors will feature efficient use of space, such as generous eating areas as part of the kitchens, as well as separate formal dining rooms. Spacious master bedroom suites with walk - in closets will also distinguish the homes.

Valley fortune telling controls eyed

A new fortune telling ordinance approved by the Contra Costa County board of supervisors could be of interest to cities like Pleasanton, where that same control is being eyed.

The difference is that Pleasanton's city council indicates it wants to discourage any of those soothsayers from setting up shop in town.

Contra Costa County will simply require that fortune tellers, psychics etc. must have resided within the county for at least one year before a license can be issued.

Contra Costa will also slap on a $350 annual fee, but that has proven little obstacle to such enterprises in the past.

Under the Contra Costa ordinance, fortune telling is defined as actually or pretending to assist a person to "foretell, foresee or influence a future act, event, condition or situation ..." In addition, it can help you find things, or people.

The reaction of one psychic in Pinole was that the $350 fee would drive her out of Contra Costa County "because only a small percentage of my time" is spent in that county. But that, apparently, is just what the county hopes to achieve — discouraging transient operators.

Opposition is expected when the ordinance comes up for final reading, next Tuesday in Martinez.

Walkathon boosters

Valley students get together to plan the coming March of Dimes Walkathon scheduled for Saturday, March 13. Recruiting of walkers is going on now for the fundraiser, which involves walking a 20-mile loop from Pleasanton to Livermore and back to the Fairgrounds. Registration is 8-9 a.m. at the Fairgrounds

VMH personnel watch TV show oriented to medical affairs

LIVERMORE — Nurses and health care personnel at Valley Memorial Hospital are watching television programs "The Nurse and the Law" and "Infection Control."

No, they're not mid - season replacements on your home screen.

They are two courses on the Bay Area's newest and perhaps most exclusive television, network, ICE-TV, an in - service and continuing education network.

VMH last week plugged into the network that premiered in January. The hospital is one of six Bay Area hospitals participating in the courses telecast over a closed circuit microwave systems to the hospitals.

Barbara Gay, R.N. and nursing in - service training director at VMH, said the course satisfies hospital requiremen to conduct in - service programs for personnel toward professional relicensure

She noted that with its joint purchasing capacity, ICE-TV is an innovative and low - cost method of bringing the latest instructional programs to hospital personnel.

Since the programs will be available around the clock, nurses and allied health workers will be able to take advantage of them regardless of the shift they work.

The programs are financed by grants from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to the Health Services Education Council in San Jose, a non - profit manpower development agency.

Besides VMH, other hospitals participating in the program are St. Francis Memorial and French Hospitals in San Francisco, Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula, Alameda Hospital, and San Jose Hospital and Health Center.

CITY OF PLEASANTON
NOTICE OF INTENT TO FILE A NEGATIVE DECLARATION
PROJECT DESIGNATION; Z-76-26
February 27, 1976

In accordance with the provisions set forth in the Environmental Impact Guidelines and Procedures of the City of Pleasanton, zoning application Z-76-26 has been determined to require a negative declaration.

The project consists of the construction of a building to house the Helgeson Nuclear Services Company and other tenants at 5587 Sunol Boulevard. The building would be approximately 9,656 square feet and 14 feet in height. Parking would be hidden from the street and the site would be landscaped.

The site, located in an Industrial Park udistrict, currently houses the Helgeson Nuclear Services Company in several small buildings. These existing buildings would be replaced by the planned structure, which also would hold additional tenants. Use of the site would increase due to the new tenants (approximately 5,000 square feet). Sunol Boulevard is partially completed at this site at present, but it is adequate to handle the expected traffic at this site. It is the finding of the City Manager that the construction of this building in the Industrial Park District would not create, to a significant degree, any of the effects enumerated in the Environmental Impact Guidelines and Procedures which indicate that the environment may be harmed.

For more information on this case, contact the Department of Housing and Community Development, 200 Bernal Avenue, Pleasanton, California, 94566, telephone 846-3202.

Unless any written appeals of this case are received by this department within ten (10) days of the above date or publication of this notice in the Pleasanton Times, whichever is later, this decision will become effective.

"Action Warranty" is provided FREE.

Now, for the first time a nationwide real estate organization provides its customers with an Action Warranty that guarantees in writing the service it has designed to sell homes FAST. CENTURY 21 brokers know from experience, gained while selling thousands upon thousands of homes each year across this nation, that when a home owner decides to sell his home, he wants to sell it FAST and at the right price. CENTURY 21 brokers know how to get that action ... FAST!

"Action Warranty" guarantees what we will do for you.

It's a bold step, putting it in writing. But we felt that customers deserved it. And we felt that we could live up to it. After all, there is no reason why anyone, when dealing with an independently owned CENTURY 21 office, should have to experience any anxieties about being forgotten, neglected, or overlooked once they have signed up to sell their home. So we put it in writing. Don't settle for less. Call the CENTURY 21 office near you for your free copy of our Action Warranty.

Mr. Toyota Man:
YES?
Is it true that this year you have more cars to pick from than ever before?
You'll find a lot more to pick from this year on Mr. Toyota Man's lot. For '76, he's ordered more Corollas, more Coronas, more Celicas, to give you a bigger choice of body styles, colors, and options.
This year's Toyotas are built stronger to last longer, and engineered to give even better gas mileage than last year's. And since Mr. Toyota Man has more cars to sell, he's more anxious to trade. It's the year of the big "yes."
